SFPGA SENDS ITS CONDOLENCES

PGA Member Jerry Wood passed away September 15, 2011 at the age of 66. Jerry is survived by his wife Nancy and son Jerry Jr. The South Florida PGA sends its deepest condolences to the Wood family.

IT'S ALMOST BUILD TIME FOR HABITAT

In early February 2011, the Foundation Board of Directors agreed to donate $50,000 towards Habitat for Humanity of Lee County to sponsor a home in late 2011. For the past seven years the South Florida PGA Foundation has been working on smaller charitable campaigns. Under the direction of a new Foundation Board, the South Florida PGA Foundation has decided to strive for a major campaign with a national partner. Habitat for Humanity of Lee County was chosen as the first Habitat affiliate to partner with the South Florida PGA Foundation. The first build dates of 2011 have been selected. Mark your calendars for October 15-22nd. Volunteers are still needed for the build, please contact Meredith Schuler at 561-729-0544 to sign up.

PGA President Allen Wronowski Inspires FGCU students

SFPGA Intern Franki Youse, PGA President Allen Wronowski, PGA Golf Management student John Pack at the 3rd annual FGCU Mentoring Event

On Friday, August 26, 2011, PGA President Allen Wronowski attended the 3rd Annual Florida Gulf Coast University's PGA Golf Management Program Mentoring Event as an honored guest and keynote speaker.

The event, held in the Sugden Resort and Hospital Management building on FGCU's campus, kicked off a special partnership between first-year FGCU PGA Golf Management Students and Southwest Chapter PGA volunteer mentors.

FGCU Internship Coordinator Marty Hall established the mentoring program as a way to create close ties between FGCU's students and local PGA professionals. Tara McKenna, Director of the program at FGCU, said, "Our first year students are treated to a tremendous opportunity to thrive in our industry from day one. To have the President of the PGA in attendance further marks the importance our mentor program to our members and highlights the need for them to give back to our Association."

year to help students prepare for their first industry jobs, pass the Playing Ability Test, and successfully complete their PGA required work experience activities. Hall stated, "We have some of the best PGA talent in the industry right here in our backyard. Our students benefit from the years of management and instructional experience the mentors have to offer."

Hall added, "PGA Professional Golf Management Advisory Board members, Tom Wildenhaus, Jeff Raimer and Ed Weber, deserve special recognition as they have been instrumental in the success of the program from day one. Current and past chapter presidents Ben Bryant and Bill Constantine, have also played a vital role in recruiting and educating our mentors."

This year, the professionals in attendance not only got to know their freshmen protégés, but were treated to inspiring presentations by PGA of America President, Allen Wronowski. He spoke in depth about the Golf 2.0 initiative and provided invaluable professional advice to both mentors and students alike.

In response to the FGCU PGA Golf Management Program first year student Emily Yi says, "The Mentoring Program was a huge success because every first year student was paired up with a Class A PGA member. And what really hit the Mentoring Program off, in my opinion, was that the President of the PGA, Alan Wronowski, took time off from his busy schedule to come to FGCU to talk to us about how excited he was to be at FGCU and how great the PGM Program is!"

Big thanks to the following PGA Professionals who help to mentor FGCU's PGA Golf Management students:

PGA Golf Management Director, Tara McKenna, kicks off the event with a FGCU PGA Golf Management Program Update

SFPGA Professional Championship

Alan Morin of Lake Worth extended his own career record to four victories in the South Florida PGA Professional Championship this September 28-29, 2011 at Mayacoo Lakes CC.

An assistant professional at The Falls Country Club, Morin, 42, outdueled Gene Fieger of Naples to win by five strokes at Mayacoo Lakes Country Club, 131 to 136. They had shared the first round at six under par 65.

Morin led by one shot after he bogeyed the par-4 15th hole from a greenside bunker shortly after returning to the course following a lightning delay. Then he birdied the 16th and 17th. Alan made par-4 at the 18th.

Morin's previous wins in the tournament were in 2002, 2006 and 2008. This victory also clinched SFPGA Player of the Years honors for Morin for the sixth time, hence a berth in the PGA Tour's Honda Classic in March at PGA National.

Morin won three of the SFPGA's four major championships this year, missing out in the Section Championship when he bogeyed the 54th hole to lose by a stroke to Christopher Kaufman of Boca Raton at Hideout. Earlier this year Morin won the Southeast Classic and the South Florida Open.

"It's one of the best years of playing golf I've ever had," Morin said, "and I can't explain it, other than some of the tournaments I only made one or two bogeys, like this one, this afternoon at No. 15. I've just played pretty solid all year."

Click here for full results. Special thanks to PGA Head Professional Cary McGaughey, as well as the rest of the staff at Mayacoo Lakes CC.

The following players qualified for the 2012 PGA Professional Championship taking place June 24-27, 2012 at Bayonet Black Horse in Seaside, California.

Excuse Me, Sir

SFGA TOURNAMENT DIRECTOR ANDREW MILLER

Why is it that when we talk about our round of golf we always mention the bad break we received? I can hear it now, “My round was going so smoothly until the 14th hole when my ball kicked into the fairway bunker and I made double. Can you believe that bounce?” (Of course when telling our stories we conveniently forget to mention the multiple times the golfing gods were good to us.)

The reason for my rhetorical question is not to have you try to explain human nature or do any soul searching. It is simply asked to get you to think about times you benefitted by things outside of the game. For instance, that time your approach shot bounced off another ball and ended up closer to the hole than it would have. Or how about the time your putt ricocheted off a loose impediment or another player's ball mark and found its way to the bottom of the hole? In this month's article I will try to explain when the player may or may not gain, according to the rules, assistance from another ball, a ball marker, a ball mark or a loose impediment.

Let's say you're playing a par five and you've hit your third shot to about three feet. Your fellow competitor lies in a greenside bunker and is thinking to himself, ‘geez that ball is serving as a nice backboard’. As you are walking up to the green he addresses his ball and is preparing to play when you say, “Hey, let me put a mark on that.” Your fellow competitor, not wanting to wait, decides he is going to go ahead and play. Is there a penalty?

Rule 22-1 tells us, “that if a player considers that a ball might assist any other player, he may lift the ball if it is his ball or have any other ball lifted.” Obviously, your ball was in a position to assist your fellow competitors and needed to be marked and lifted. As your fellow competitor has prevented you from proceeding under Rule 22-1, he would be disqualified for a breach of Rule 3-4 which states, “If a competitor refuses to comply with a Rule affecting the rights of another competitor, he is disqualified.” I am sure the fellow competitor didn't realize by not allowing you to mark your ball that he would receive such a severe penalty but as Rule 6-1 tells us, ignorance is not a viable defense. (Decision 3-4/1)

A few holes later, you're on the putting green again and have marked your ball. You're using one of those new poker chips to mark the position of the ball... which in my opinion, are not very practical however there is nothing in the Rules of Golf to prevent them. Your fellow competitor (not yet knowing that he is going to be disqualified for his previous breach) is lining up his putt. You notice that your large ball marker is aiding your fellow competitor in lining up his putt or could assist his play. You walk over to your ball mark and prepare to move it one or two club lengths to the left. Your fellow competitor says, “No, I want your ball marker left where it is.” Is this permitted?

The answer is no and the reason is two-fold. First, Rule 8-2b tells us, “that a mark must not be placed anywhere on the putting green to indicate a line for putting.” Second, the ball marker must be moved as it would be assisting the fellow competitor in his play of the hole, Rule 22-1. As the fellow competitor made issue with you moving your ball mark, it was evident he was attempting to breach either of these Rules whether he knew it or not. If you don't move your ball marker, you and your fellow competitor would be disqualified under Rule 22-1 which says, “In stroke play, if the committee determines that competitors have agreed not to lift a ball that might assist any competitor, they are disqualified.” (Decision 20-1/11)

A few days later you and your assistant are in a heated match coming down the stretch. You're one up playing the par three sixteenth hole. You almost hole your tee shot however the ball bounces off the flagstick and ends up 10 feet from the hole. Your assistant, feeling the pressure pushes his ball and it winded up 12 feet from the hole. You walk up to the green and survey your putt shaking your head at your misfortune. You bend down to repair your ball mark when your assistant say, “Don't touch that. I don't want that repaired.” You say, “It's my ball mark. I can repair it if I want too.” The ball mark is very close to the hole and may assist your assistant in his play of the hole. Who's right? Well, this might be one of the few times the boss is wrong.

upcoming events

If you repair a ball mark, even though it's yours, affecting your assistants play, you would lose the hole under Rule 1-2. Rule 1-2 states, "A player or caddie must not take any action to influence the position or the movement of a ball except in accordance with the Rules." Since it was not your turn to play you are not permitted to do anything, except in accordance with the Rules, that would affect your assistants play. If it was your turn to play you would be permitted to repair the ball mark no matter what. The ruling would be the same in stroke play. (Decision 16-1c/2)

Your assistant made his putt on the sixteenth hole, you missed and the seventeenth hole was haved. So the match goes the eighteenth all square.

You and your assistant are both on the green in regulation with you 8 feet below the hole and your assistant 10 feet above the hole. Some leaves have blown onto the green so your assistant is removing the loose impediments between his ball and the hole. You start to remove the leaves between the hole and your ball and again your assistant say, "What are you doing? Please leave those leaves where they are." Your assistant has a slick down-hill putt and wants the loose impediments behind the hole to serve as a backstop should he miss his putt. Is this permitted?

Just like before the assistant is correct. You have no right to remove the loose impediments affecting his line of play when it is his turn to play. To do so would also be a breach of Rule 1-2. In equity (Rule 1-4), your assistant may replace the loose impediments you lifted. However, Decision 23-1/10 tells us, "In the absence of a request not to remove loose impediments affecting the player's play, an opponent or fellow competitor who does so incurs no penalty." (Decision 23-1/10)

I hope you enjoyed reading this month's article. If you had a unique situation or question at your club regarding the rules of golf, please email me so that I may share it with the entire membership. amiller@pgahq.com
